The building of American Democracy is a gigantic enterprise to which many have given, are giving, and will give their lives. Today, as never before, the world looks toward Youth to rekindle the embers of Democracy into a roaring flame.

Yesterday, Youth slowly and deliberately began to build a firm foundation for an ideal government, one that has lasted for over 150 years. Today, he is still laboring, sweating, working to obtain a true Democracy. He has one tool, Without it he could not continue to build; without it that which he has labored so hard to erect would crumble. This tool is education. Tomorrow, if he continues to move forward, he will complete his task. He will have an everlasting World Democracy.

Walt Whitman expresses this in the following poem:

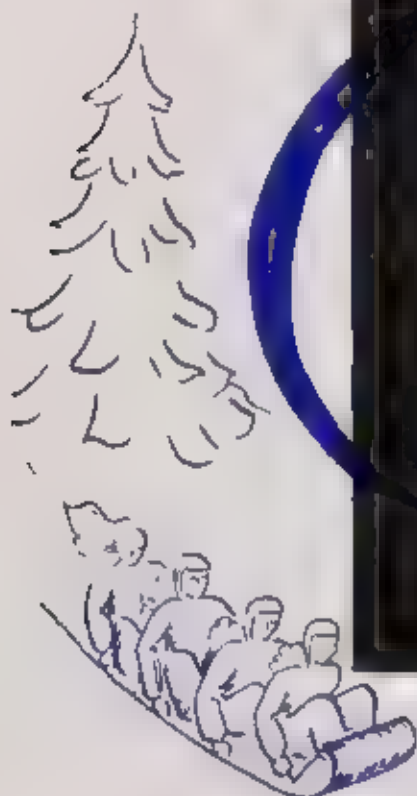

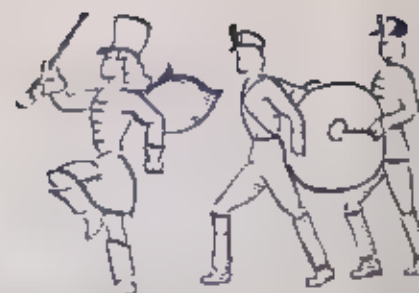

"Sail, sail thy best, ship of Democracy.
Of value is thy freight, 'tis not the Present only,
The Past is also stored in thee."

Youth Builds Democracy, Yes

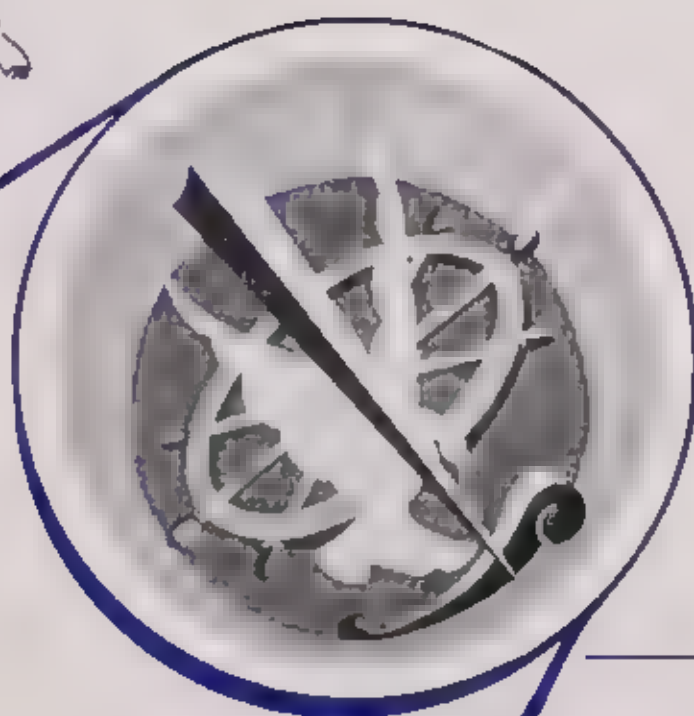

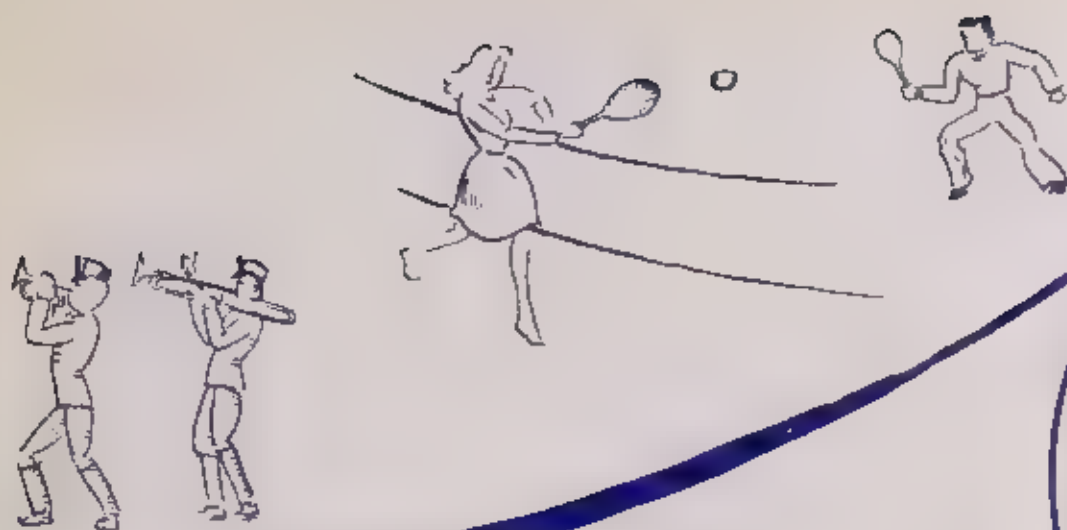

Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow

The TIDE staff works furiously all year, striving to produce a beautiful year book. Pictured below are a group of students busily autographing the finished product.

Mrs. Marie Voy Brewster

"Halls of learning chide us unless we people them with teachers who set on fire the souls of youth," the late President Taft once said. Our leader, Mrs. Brewster, has earned the admiration and respect of all the students through her devotion to the welfare and growth of our great school, South Shore. Because of her past experience as teacher and principal in other schools, she has the background to understand the present needs of young people. Her constructive criticisms, wise suggestions, and close collaboration with students have helped immeasurably in strengthening the democratic foundations of our school. Moreover, all the high ideals and fine thoughts which are characteristic of our beloved principal have inspired us to acts of greater achievement. Students of South Shore will always remember Mrs. Brewster as a teacher and a friend, building men and women of the future."

Mr. Clarence Fossier dictates to Mrs. Leverenz in that pleasant voice of his Ever mindful of the tasks set for the youth of today, Mr. Clarence Fossier, Assistant Principal, directs us along honest and industrious paths. In his counsel, we are better able to see problems in their just proportion and are helped to analyze them, consider them wisely, and rise above them. The faculty and students appreciate and admire the efficiency and understanding with which he has carried out these duties.

Office Staff

The sounds of bustling activity are heard upon entering the school office, where our efficient and pleasant office clerks are at work. Although they are usually very busy, they still find time to answer all kinds of questions asked by perplexed students. Keeping school records, ordering and distributing supplies, and turning out the daily bulletin are only a small part of the many tasks that they are responsible for performing. This administrative work is well taken care of by our able and conscientious office clerks, Mrs. Hazel Bower, Mrs. Rosemary Krautlein, and Mrs. Paula Leverenz.

Looking over Mrs. Krautlein's shoulder as she reads the bulletin are Mrs. Bower and Mrs. Leverenz

Yesterday, Youth said,

"I am going to build the foundation of true democracy for a new people, a model of government that will last through the ages."

And he did.

Faculty

The teachers of today represent the inspired youth of yesterday and expound the tenets of democracy to the youth of tomorrow. They have taken up the torch of knowledge and are carrying it forward, ever striving to instill in the minds of the coming generation the ideals that will enable them to build a better government and a lasting peace.

We salute these educators of youth, and may they long continue to give inspiration to the future leaders of democracy.

In our land of freedom, a student is allowed to elect his own subjects, but he is given a chance to consult experts so that he will make wise decisions. Mrs. Josephine Strawn, adjustment teacher, and Mr. Meyer Nathan, placement counselor, look over students' working permits.

Through art, the student is able to express his feelings and ideas about liberty and justice. Art teachers are Mrs. Winona Hall, THE TIDE Art sponsor; Miss Edith Lipsky, Art Department chairman; and Miss Alma Reisberg, substitute for Mr. Gaylord Wilkinson, Lieutenant U. S. N. R., who has just returned.

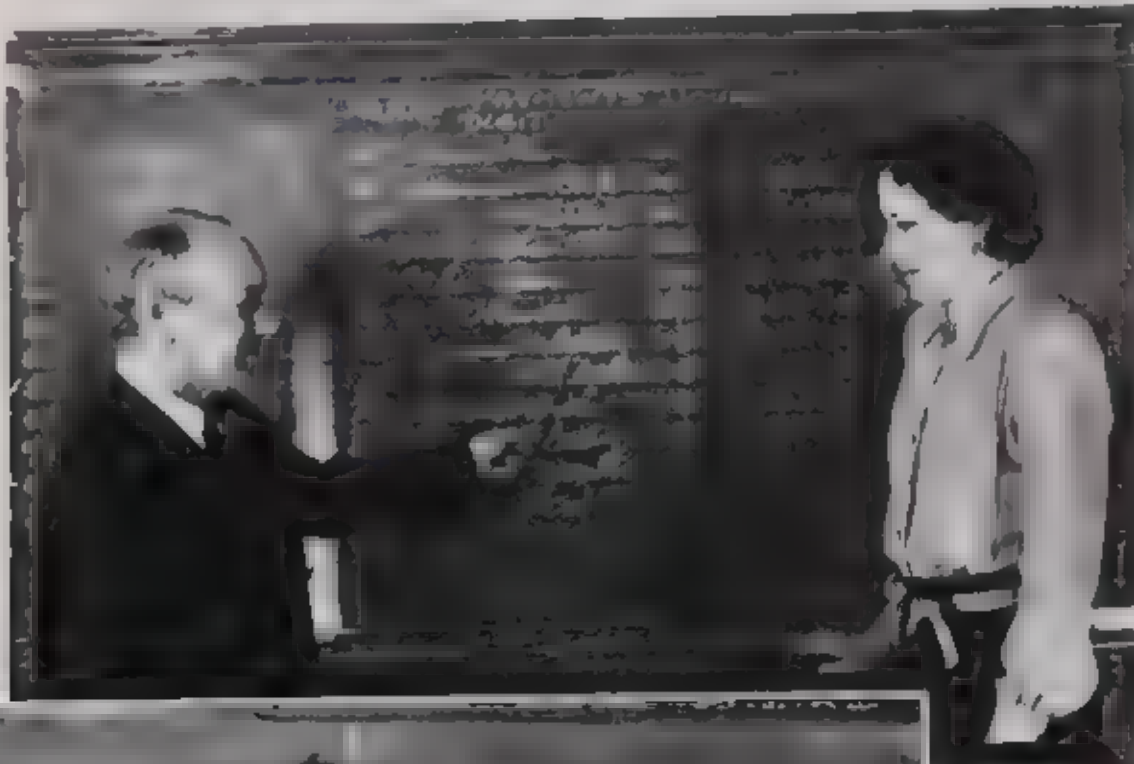

Faculty

In our commercial classes we are taught the economic basis of society so that we shall become intelligent consumers. Left to right: Mrs. Alice Conlon, department chairman and attendance counselor; Mrs. Esther Arthur; Mrs. Gertrude Neal, assistant in the attendance office.

Commercial students of today will be the skilled office workers of tomorrow. Mr. Daniel O'Connell, school treasurer, and Mrs. Catherine Ek, The Shore Line business adviser, are members of the Commercial Department.

Margaret L. Compher

The Commercial Department trains students for business, a field which always needs competent persons to fill responsible positions. Miss Marie Schnackenberg "feeds" the mimeograph machine, while Miss Margaret Compher looks at one of the programs that Miss Hazel Hansen is taking from the machine.

*Good well, Miss
Amy Mackie*

Top right. Our purpose in studying English is to help us read and write clearly so that we can express our ideas of "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness," thus making language vital in building a world of good will. Miss Jennie Austin is a member of the English Department

Middle: "How happy is he born and taught that serveth not another's will . ." is taught in the literature classes of Miss Nellie Grah, chairman of the English Department, Miss Amy Mackie, and Mrs Lorena Greene. Miss Mackie sponsors the picture staff of THE TIDE, and Mrs. Greene assists with both the paper drive and war stamp collections.

Lower: A thorough knowledge of the language and literature of our country helps us to become intelligent and useful citizens. Miss Mamie Zilligen, Miss Mary Gavin, and Miss Katherine McCue, who teach English, are busy correcting homework papers.

Top left: Our English Department helps students to appreciate the cultural achievements of yesterday and today. Mrs. Ethel Davison looks over a magazine article from rack in Room 114; she is the reading coordinator for the school.

Middle: "Freedom of speech, both written and oral, has been a fundamental rock which our government is based," comments Mrs. Margaret Tobin, right, editorial sponsor of The Shore Line, to Miss Anne O'Toole, public speaking teacher.

Lower: Students understand their own government better when they have studied tyrannies of the past. Miss Grace Cullen, Red Cross sponsor; Miss Honor Ridge, war bond coordinator; and Miss Grace Frederick, war stamp collector, are observing the changes made in the globe by the war.

Mathematics is an important tool through which science progresses. Without it, many theories and formulas developed in the scientific field would not have been discovered. Mr. William Kooistra, head of the S.S.L. finance committee, Miss Harriet Rice, and Miss Dorothy Bock, sponsor of the National Honor Society, admire solid geometry models made by their students.

In combating prejudice and injustice when dealing with other people and nations, clear thinking and sound reasoning are essential. The acquisition of these qualities is furthered by the study of mathematics. Discussing a problem are Miss Ellen Gonnely, assistant registrar; Miss Elizabeth Spenser, hall guard sponsor; and Mrs. Lillian Gitlen, head of the S.S.L. organization committee.

By studying melodies of many lands, the peoples of the melting pot may be blended into one grand American Harmony. Mr. Robert Sansone, band and orchestra conductor and sponsor of the Operetta Club, plays the cello for Miss Agatha Long, center, 4B sponsor, and director of the Junior and Senior Girls' Choruses, and Miss Mildred Repke, leader of the Junior and Senior Mixed Choruses.

The physical ability and teamwork needed to make our coming citizens strong in body and spirit to face future problems in life is entrusted in the Physical Education Department. The athletic instructors are Mr. Nathan Wasserman, football, tennis, and golf coach; Mr. Ralph Wiltshire, swimming and track coach; and Mr. Anthony Maffia, basketball coach.

In our Physical Education classes, we learn the fundamentals of good health and engage in team games which provide us opportunity to develop leadership and teamwork. Left to right are Miss Frederika Marston, sponsor of the G.A.A. and literary adviser of THE TIDE, Miss Lucybell Gardner, and Mrs. Isabel Lassen, sponsor of the cheerleaders.

"Biology," says Mrs. Eloise Forsinger, head of the Science Department, "teaches one to observe and analyze for himself, not to rely entirely upon the judgment of others, a weakness fostered by dictators." While Miss Dorothy Lee and Miss Caroline Swanson look on, Mrs. Forsinger, Philanthea leader, sprinkles the plants. Miss Lee sponsors the S.S.L. and Senior Girls' Council.

Upper: The span of Chemistry touches everyone from the housewife to the industrialist, and today Chemistry is playing an important role in the war. Demonstrating that many things, even iron, burn in oxygen are Mr. John Coulson, sponsor of the Chemistry Club, Senior Boys' Council, and Coordinator of Safety, and Miss Mary Brock, Chemistry and Biology teacher

Lower: The study of General Science presents facts and concepts of our environment and gives to the student the achievements of science in adapting the facts of nature to social ends. Miss Marie Albright listens intently as Mr. Joseph Moroney explains the principle of kinetic energy

FACULTY IN SERVICE

Former teachers of South Shore who are now serving in the Armed Forces of our country are still teaching about the ideals of democracy. These teachers, by their experiences in service, will be better equipped when they return to teach the youth of today and tomorrow how to build on uncrumbling and permanent edifice.

Lt. (j.g.) Philip Lewis, who taught Industrial Arts and was business adviser of THE TIDE and The Shore Line, is now affiliated with a radio school in Memphis, Tennessee. He has also devised a course of study for the N.A.T.T.C. program.

Also of the Industrial Arts Department is Sgt. Leo Wernick who is now stationed in China with the Air Transport Command, doing personnel and classification work.

Major Clarence Applegran, former instructor of Physical Education and basketball coach, is now with the 9th Army in Europe. Major Applegran was a member of the National Guard and left for duty just after Pearl Harbor. He has been stationed in England, Africa, Italy, and France.

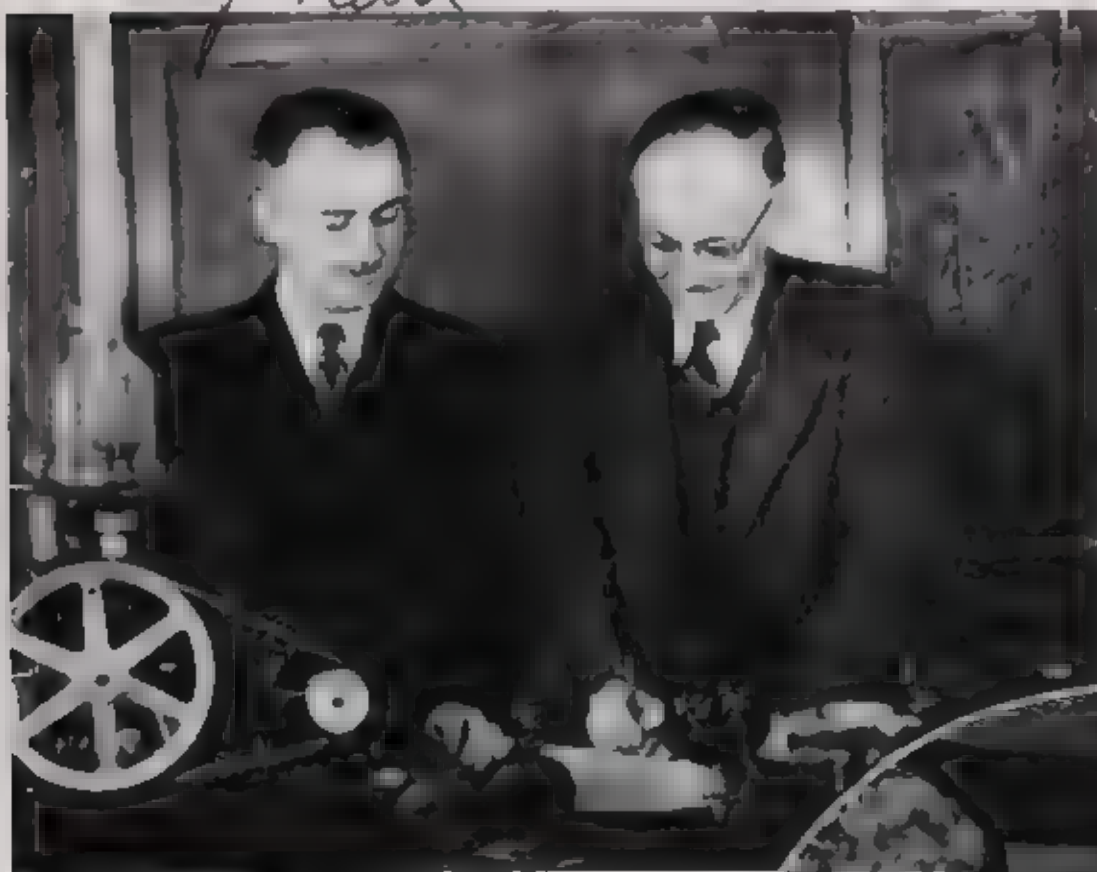

After many months of overseas duty in the southwest Pacific with the amphibious forces, Lt. (j.g.) George Connelly, former Spanish teacher, has returned to the United States as an instructor.

Lt. Gaylord Wilkinson, of the Aviation Specialist Division of the Navy, returned to South Shore in February to resume his position as Art teacher. Lt. Wilkinson taught plane and ship recognition at Damneck, Virginia, and Monmouth, Illinois, and was personnel officer at Westerly, Rhode Island

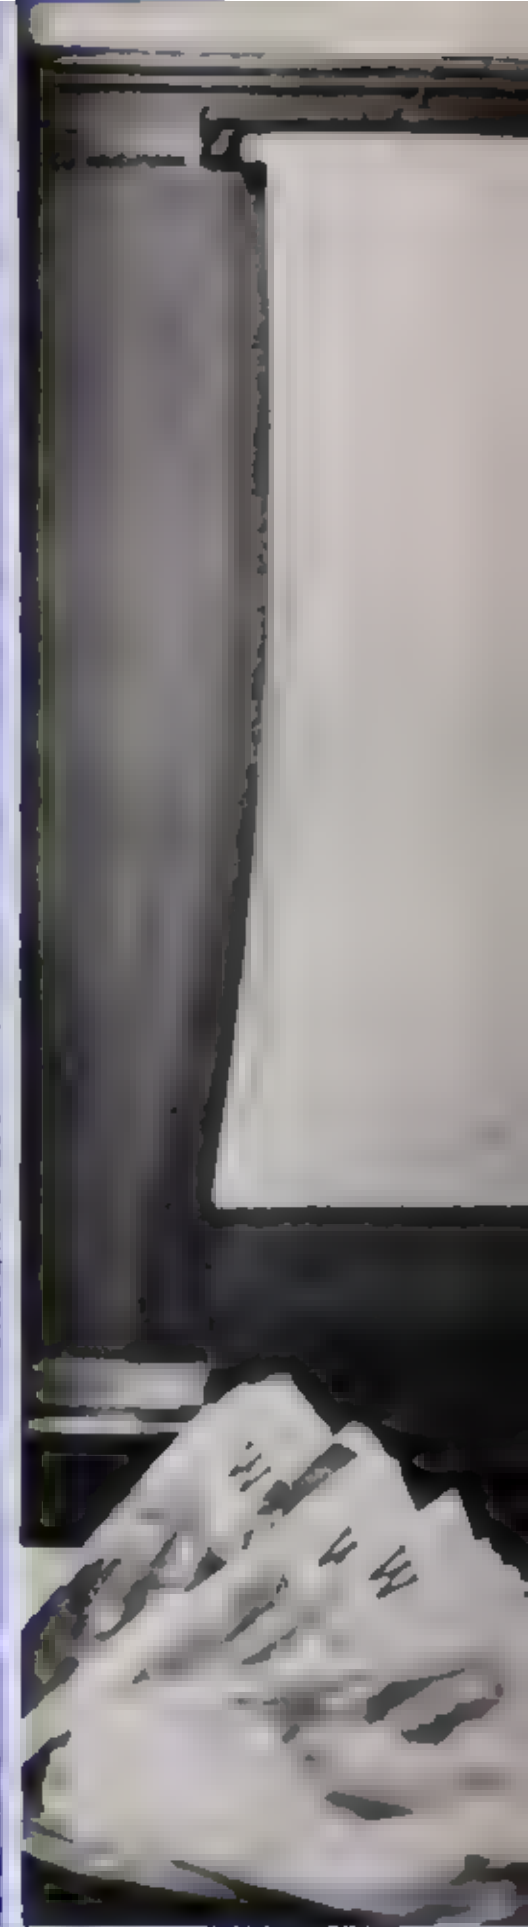

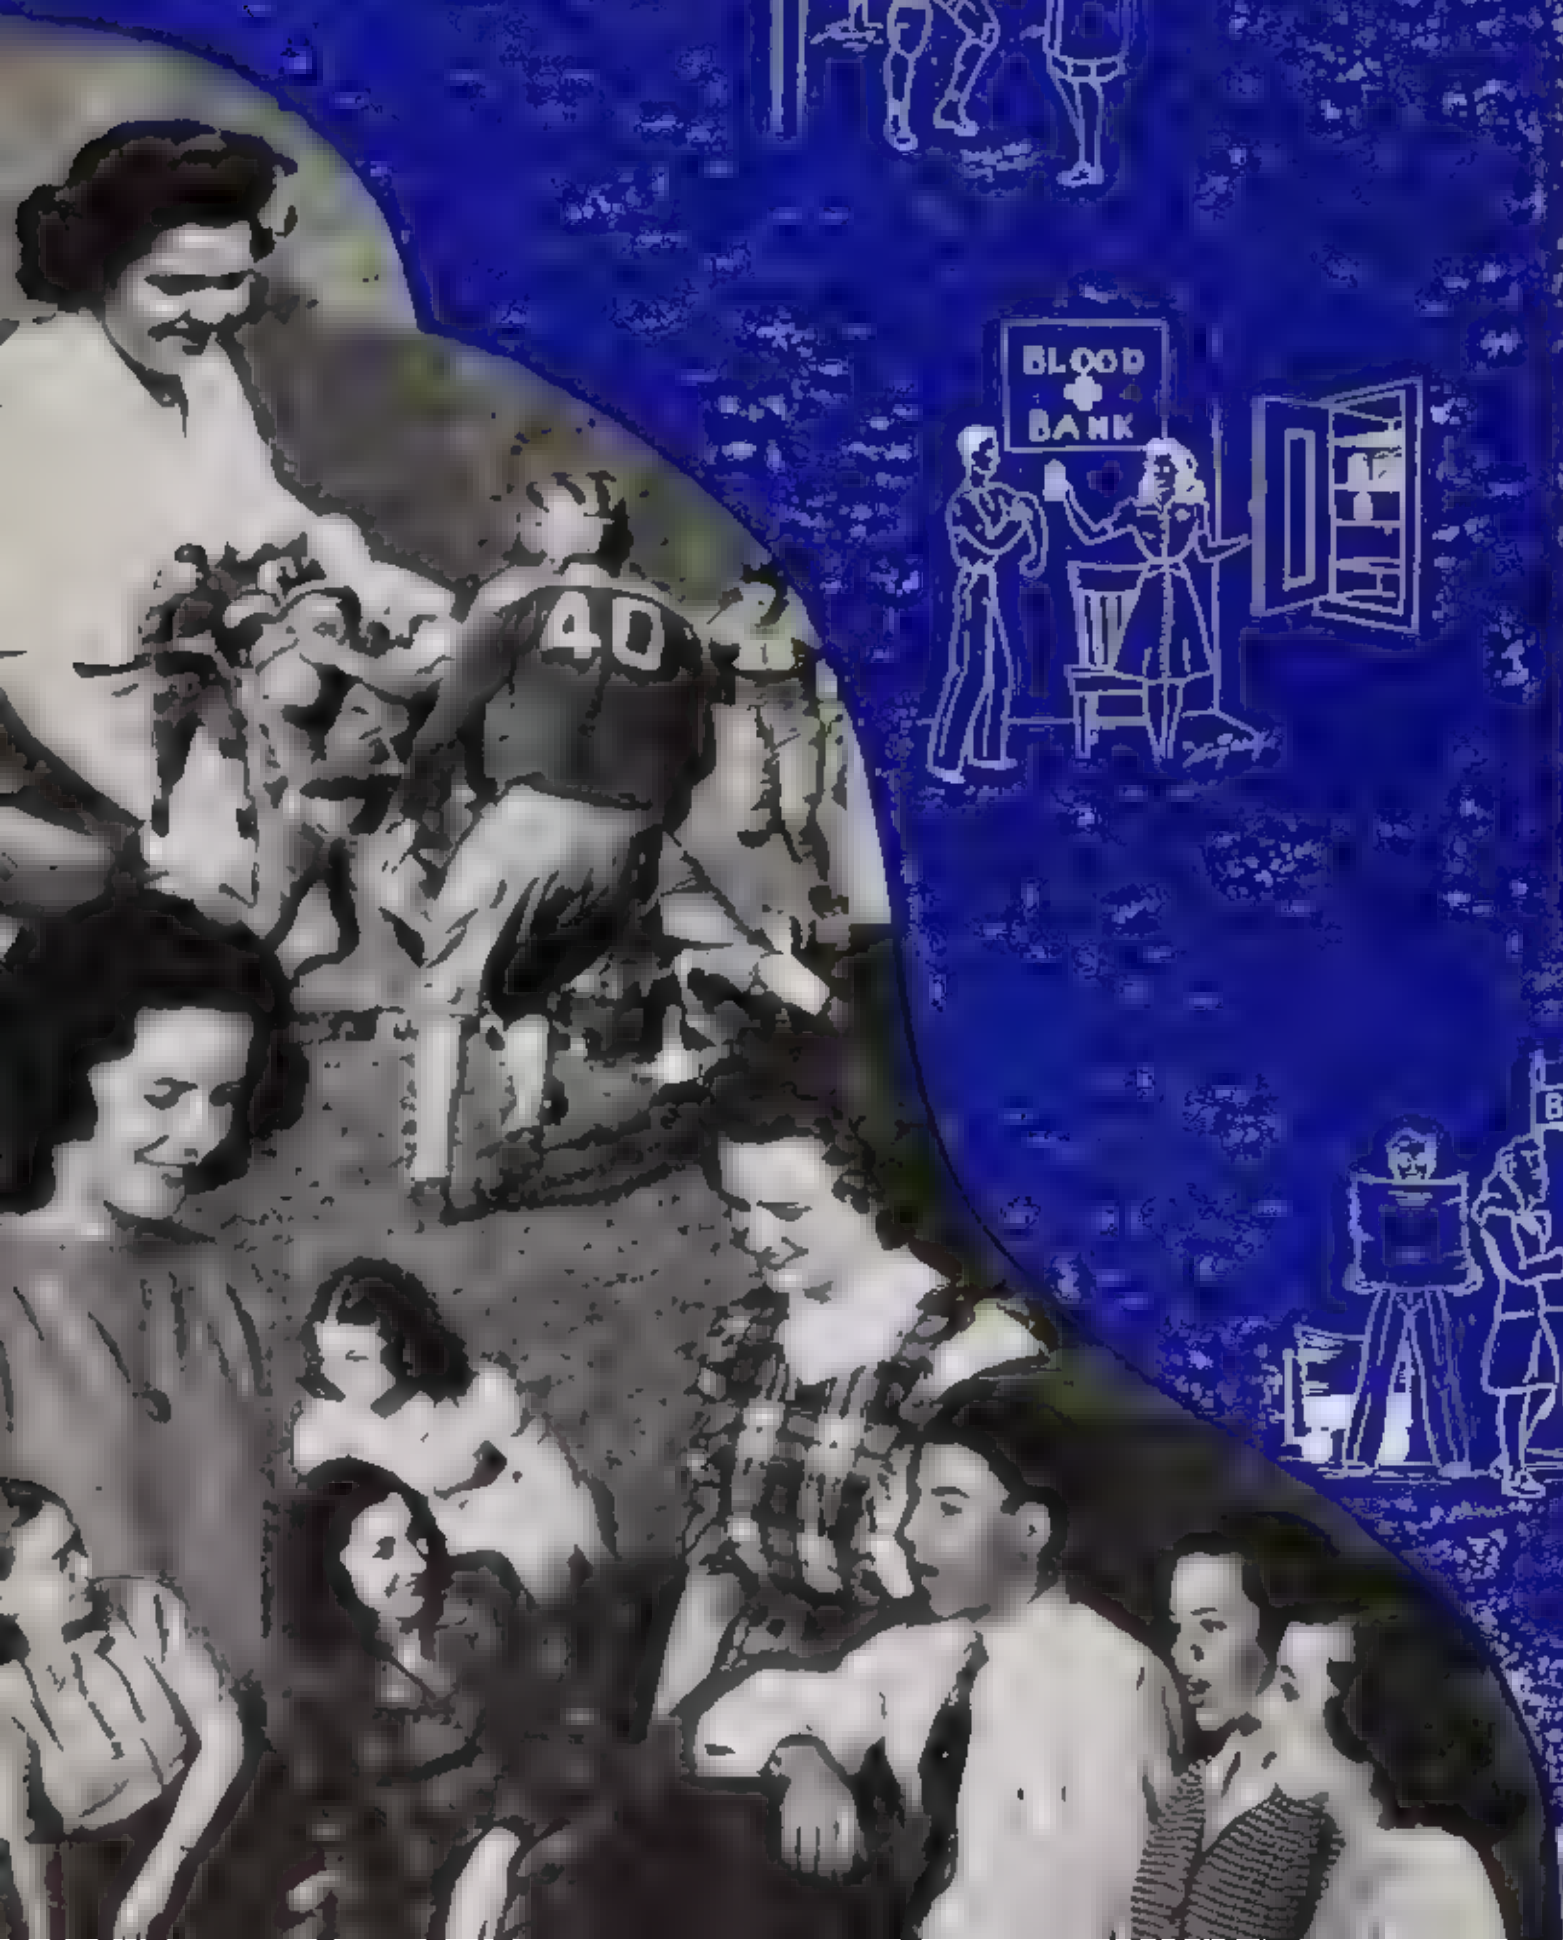

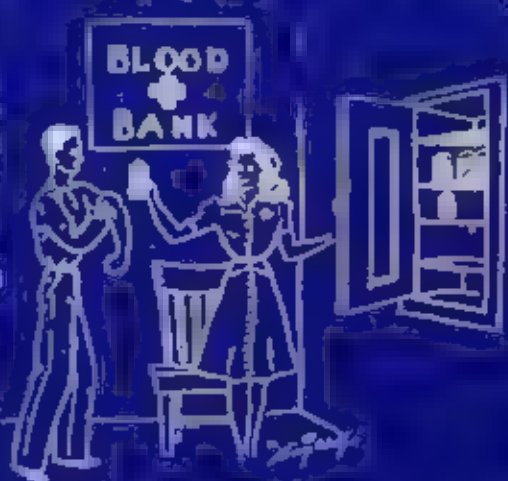

Upper left: Students show a more vital interest in Physics as they realize that this, the machine age is dependent upon the same laws of Physics that have been known and used for years. Our Physics Department is manned by Mr. Joseph Nebel, 4A sponsor, and Mr. Oscar Mongerson, chairman of this department.

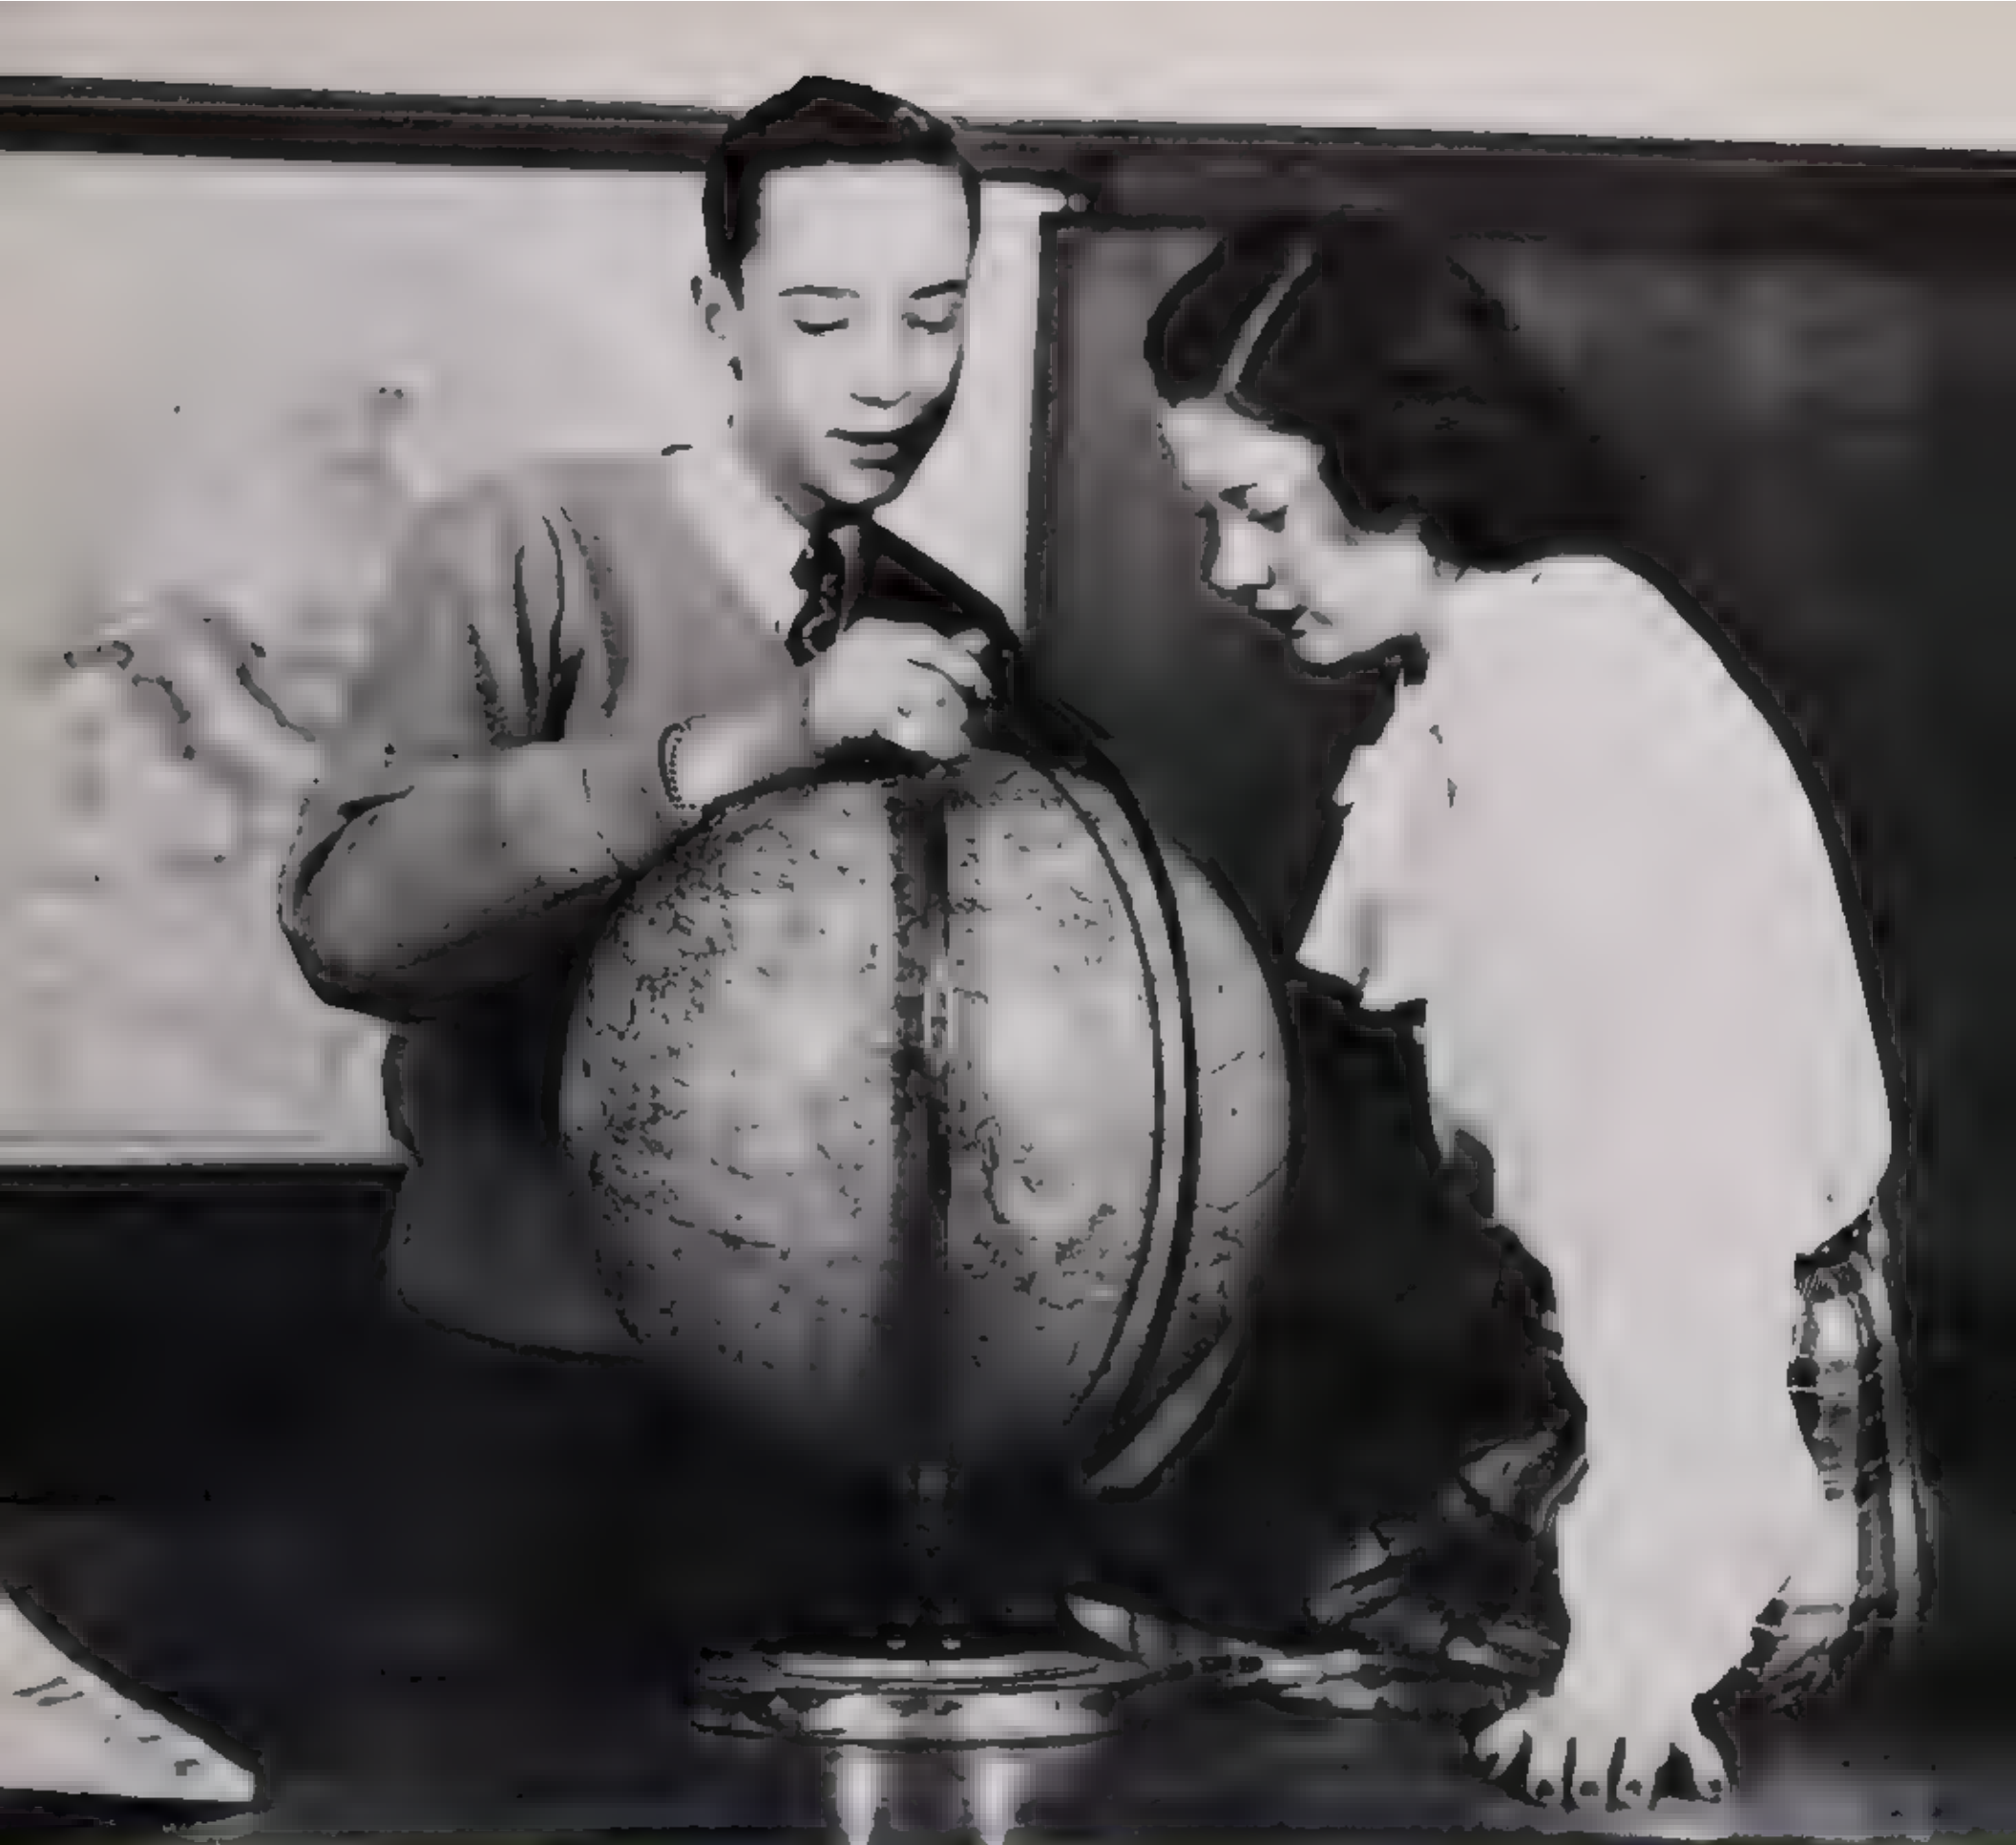

Middle right: Youth will benefit in the future by knowledge of past and present. This knowledge and inspiration is furnished by a library of well chosen books. Mrs Ruth Dawson, Library Club sponsor and school librarian is filing, while Mrs. Martha O'Kane, assistant librarian, is phoning.

Lower left: So that senior boys will be able to understand machinery and tools when they enter the Armed Forces, Mr. Alvin Baumgartner, shop instructor, demonstrates to the students the working of a lathe.

SOUTH SHORE HIGH SCH.

Today, Youth says...

"I am building a structure so straight and so strong that nothing, not even war, can make it fall or crumble."

And he is.

THE CLASS OF FEBRUARY 1945

Student Service League

South Shore is justly proud of its fine Student Service League. All students are eligible to join this organization. The officers are elected by the members on the basis of scholarship, cooperation, and leadership. In accordance with the desire of South Shore to recognize all those who are of service to the school, the S.S.L. presents awards to deserving students each semester in a special assembly.

The recording of the service points earned by students is done by the Organization Committee, which also determines the student who will receive awards.

The Assembly Committee is responsible for the fine assemblies presented to S.S.L. members. Several of these are held each semester and they are received enthusiastically by everyone.

Admittance to various affairs is made possible through the efforts of the Finance Committee which sells and distributes tickets for many school functions.

Someday in the post war world, a world of plastics and helicopters, you will take a certain book off your chromium-magnesium bookshelf—THE TIDE and recall old school scenes, friends, and teachers. To settle any arguments on who won the game, just turn to THE TIDE, as the Literary Staff has compiled these records as well as anecdotes of the school year

As "One picture tells more than a thousand words," the Picture Staff must spend much time in the planning and scheduling of good photographs

The Tide

From September to June, the Annual Staff works diligently, depicting the Ebb and Flow—yes, THE TIDE—of South Shore High School. Just as the touch of spring brightens up the earth, so does the Art Staff liven the annual. Besides the many illustrations in the book itself, the cover is student designed, too! The cover was drawn by Art Editor Marilyn Weintraub.

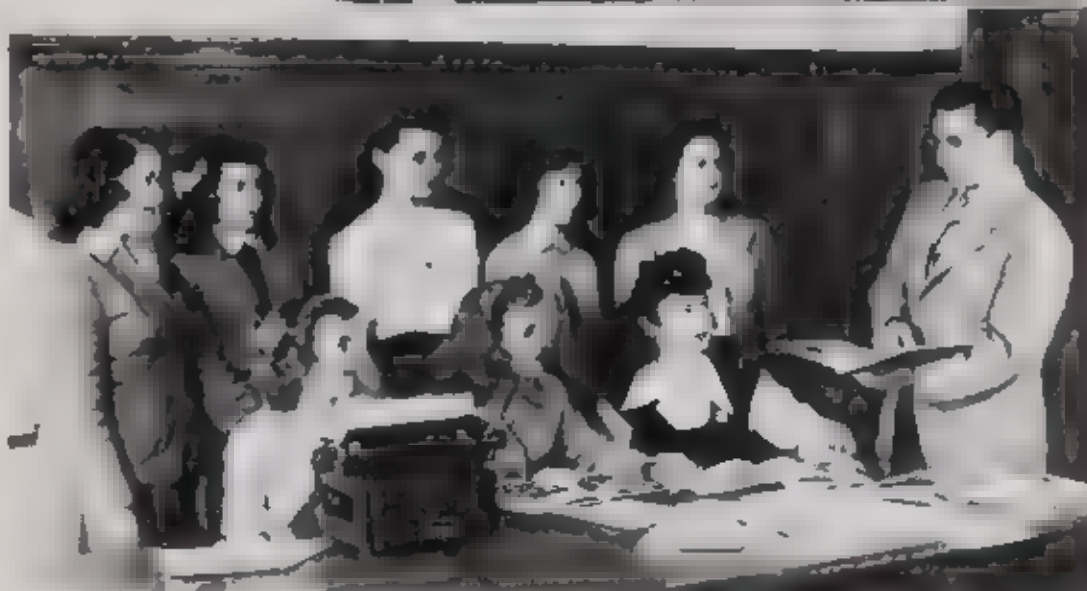

The Art Staff, pouring over its layouts, consists of, standing, Virginia Witzman, Eugene Yalowitz, Janice Kidwell, Ralph Schmidl, Ann Muter, Bob Quinn; seated: Margaret Anderson, Marilyn Weintraub, Carolyn Nordstrom, Irvin Anderson, and Ethe Goodman.

After a pep talk by Business Editor Tom Case, the Business Staff is now eager to go to work. Standing, Barbara Lamensdorf, La Verne Holten, Shirley Olson, Ann McMillan, Florence Simon and Tom Case, seated: Julie Eaglesbach, Norma Tennis, and Mary Jane Green.

Keeping between THE TIDE and The Shore Line, the Good Ship South Shore can't but help "Chart a Straight Course." So that THE TIDE may make a successful voyage financially, it is the Business Staff's duty to see that subscriptions are sold and advertisements solicited.

The Shore Line

One of the mediums through which a school expresses itself is the paper. The South Shore bi-weekly, The Shore Line, provides interesting news, features, and sports for its many readers. Every student is given an opportunity to be informed about various activities; thus school loyalty and spirit is stimulated, and student participation in social affairs is encouraged. The staff puts in long hours of work to publish their nine issues on time. Their reward for the work is the enthusiasm with which the student body receives the newspaper.

The highlight of the semester is the banquet, for it is there that the names of the editor-in-chief, major editors, minor editors, and copy and proof readers for the following semester are announced.

Pan-American Club

Pan-American relations are especially important at the present time. The Pan-American Club, under the direction of Miss Frances Curtis, teaches its members the culture, opinions, and customs of the countries of Latin America. The club sponsors an assembly to commemorate Pan-American Day and sends representatives to the Pan-American League Conference and the Chicago High School Council. It is the only South Shore High School activity which is a member of a nation-wide organization. South Shore is proud that it actively participates in promoting friendlier feelings between the youth of the United States and the youth of her sister republics in the Western Hemisphere.

Latin Club

The members of the Latin Club, under the able sponsorship of Mr. John Carroll, learn that our modern laws and culture derive some of their most important basic ideas from the civilization of ancient Rome. Through Latin manuscripts and books, the members study the Roman civilization and by comparing it with our present day civilization, they obtain important knowledge which they can use all through their future lives. By presenting assemblies and sponsoring other activities the club encourages the students of South Shore to study and learn Latin.

French Club

The French Club, Les Jeunes, gives students a clearer picture of the language and customs of France. Under the sponsorship of Miss Lillian Franklin, this organization engages in many activities, among which is the assembling of a scrap book. Bill Nowaczyk, treasurer; Marilyn Weintraub, secretary; Grace Lobes, Dorothy Taylor, president; Mitzi Meyer, Olive Schwendener, vice president.

Philanthea

Our school, besides growing in prestige, has also grown in beauty. The Philanthea, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Eloise For-singer, has contributed to beauty throughout the school and its grounds. One of its outstanding activities has been the presentation of the interesting, illustrated lectures by the naturalist, Sam Campbell. A silver coffee urn was given to the school by this organization: AlJeanne Horn, treasurer; Shirley Olson, vice-president; Carolyn Nelson, president, and La Von Rouse, secretary.

Chemistry

Would you like to learn about soil analysis, liquid air, and glass blowing? The Chemistry Club, sponsored by Mr. John Coulson is organized for those students who take a special interest in Chemistry and who wish to gather a little extra knowledge about the subject. These students know the contribution of this field in the present war and realize the growing importance of Chemistry

One of the worthwhile organizations in the school is the Red Cross. Its members have made an afghan, Christmas gift bags, scrapbooks, Christmas menu covers, and Christmas cards. During the Red Cross drive in March, this organization sponsored a tag day.

Ancillae

Service to the school, to the student, and to the country is the purpose of the Ancillae, which means "girls who serve." To be eligible to join this organization, one must work in the attendance, adjustment, or main office. This club, sponsored by Miss Margaret Compher, meets twice monthly. The members have been selling bows, yarn dolls, and crepe paper flowers during the year to raise money for the servicemen's plaque.

Nautilae

Dorothy Harris, Don Johnson, Jack Michelson, and Pat Daniels were two of the couples in the Nautilae square which won first place for costumes and second place for dancing in the club competition at the G.A.A. Square Dance

In addition to sponsoring dances, the Nautilae, an energetic group of girls under the guidance of Mrs. Willetta Stapleton, cooperates in every school drive and participates in all school functions.

The Nautilae have proved themselves good members of the community by making scrap books for the soldiers in Gardner General Hospital and collecting games for the Service Men's Center at 83rd and Jeffrey.

Loyalty to alumni is shown by the fact that Nautilae girls buy and send TIDES to South Shore's servicemen who have not been adopted by division rooms.

The greatest single contribution of the club, according to the dance fans and party-goers in the school, is the purchase of a juke box which may be used by any organized group in school.

The money was raised by the Nautilae's famous "write your name for a fee and have it embroidered" aprons.

Band

"Here comes the band!" On warm afternoons when the band is practicing outside, this cry can be heard. The strains of lively music are heard and then, smartly dressed in their snappy blue uniforms, the band members march into view. Directed by Mr. Robert Sansone, this organization has played at our football games and for the R.O.T.C.

The baton twirlers also have uniforms in the school colors, and they put on exhibitions of their skill at football games and on Parents' Night.

Orchestra

South Shore's orchestra is also under the direction of Mr. Robert Sansone. This organization is an integral part of the Operetta Club and performs at various social functions of the school.

An annual event is the Band and Orchestra Concert. The money made is used to buy new instruments and music.

Operetta Club

The Operetta Club was organized this year to give students experience in putting on musical productions. Scenery, stage settings, and costumes are planned by the students themselves. The group is under the sponsorship of Mr Robert Sansone.

The patience required by rehearsals, the give and take between principals and chorus, the feeling of mutual dependence of actors, orchestra, and background workers are excellent training for the youth of today to take their place in the post-war democracy.

Chorus

The Senior Mixed Chorus is under the direction of Miss Mildred Repke. Performing at assemblies throughout the year and singing Christmas carols during the Yuletide season are only a few of their activities. The beautiful blending of their voices and the apparent skill with which they use them are not inborn talents. Our chorus has found that only by practicing carefully and assiduously under the direction of an able instructor can they achieve anything like perfection.

The membership of the Senior Chorus is kept at the same level by drawing a member of the Junior Chorus into the Senior Chorus whenever a vacancy appears. However, there are definite standards of quality which are maintained in selecting material. To join the Junior Chorus, one first must pass an audition given by the director. After being accepted, a person soon discovers that if individuals work together, they are capable of giving a performance that is striking in beauty and effective in delivery.

The girls in this gayly decorated booth are selling popcorn balls to the students during the Popcorn Sale sponsored by the Girls' Chorus. Pat Daniel, Lillian Johnson, Ann Ahlum, Dorothy Harris and Dorothy Folds.

The melody played by Dorothy Young, the accompanist of the chorus, proves to be very enjoyable to these members of the Girls' Chorus gathered around the piano. Seated at piano: Dolores Snow, Dorothy Young and Kathryn Richards. Standing: Laurie Vaughn, Janet Kisco, Anna McLean, Dolores Kolf and Bobette McCarthy.

Girls' Chorus

Gathered together to discuss the business on hand are the officers of the Senior and Junior Girls' Choruses. Standing: June Machovec, Jr. treasurer, Jean Krueger, Jr. secretary; Barbara DuBois, Sr. treasurer, Marion Fitzgerald, Sr. secretary. Seated: Marilyn Mezek, Jr. president; Pat Hug, Sr. president; Edith Zippel, Sr. vice-president; June Morehouse, Jr. vice-president.

Music comprises a part of our American democracy, and the Girls' Chorus, under the direction of Miss Agatha Long, interprets this music in the finest style. The ratings the groups have received in the Public High School Choral Competition are proofs of their ability. The songs of the Girls' Chorus are always a highlight of the many school programs. Members welcome new talent for both groups.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Graduating Seniors who have been outstanding in high school in service, character, leadership, and scholarship are elected to membership in the National Honor Society. Candles representing these qualities are kindled by the society members at the induction ceremony. Candidates are presented with certificates of membership and are then eligible to wear the golden key, symbol of the society.

TOM CASE'S DANCE BAND

A favorite band at South Shore is that of Tom Case. These boys play music you like the way you like it played. Whether you want waltzes or boogie-woogie, this band can beat it out "solid." They have performed at such school functions as the Freshman Frolic, Student Service League dances, and Open House. During the time that Tom Case is in the Navy, Dick McLaughlin will act as leader.

The Senior Girls' Council

Above: Helen Johnson, 4B vice president; Phyllis MacBeth, president; Shirley McGuire, treasurer; Suzanne Smith, secretary; and Carolyn Nordstrom, 4A vice president

Below: In the assembly hall, eager freshies wait anxiously for the show sponsored by the Senior Girls' Council to begin.

The Senior Girls' Council is a very active organization which makes both freshman and senior feel that they are a vital part of South Shore. This club is open to all girls in the 4B and 4A classes. The symbolic "graduation cap" pin is given to each member. Activities of the year include the Freshman Frolic, the Senior Mothers' Tea, and the Senior Mixer. This year for the first time, these girls sponsored a Senior Class Luncheon.

Stage Crew

Unseen and unsung heroes of our theatrical world here in South Shore are the stage crew under Mr. Baumgartner's supervision. Without them, many of the beautiful effects which are used in our dramatic productions would not be possible. The lighting, which is vital in any performance, is under their supervision, and it is also their job to see that our stage settings are always at hand. They are the first on the job and the last to leave. All hail to thee, our Thespian craftsmen.

Hall and Fire Guards

A democracy would prove to be very inefficient if law and order were not enforced. In South Shore the Hall Guards, under the supervision of Miss Elizabeth Spencer, maintain order in the halls, watch the lockers, and help to keep the building neat.

In the event of an emergency, such as a fire, South Shore will be well prepared. The Fire Guards, under the supervision of Mr. Ralph Wiltshire, maintain and improve order inside and outside of the building during fire drills to avoid confusion.

Bob Allison explains the principles of the fire alarm to Fire Guards Paul Johnson, Robert Gardner, and Bill Johnson.

Parent Teachers' Association

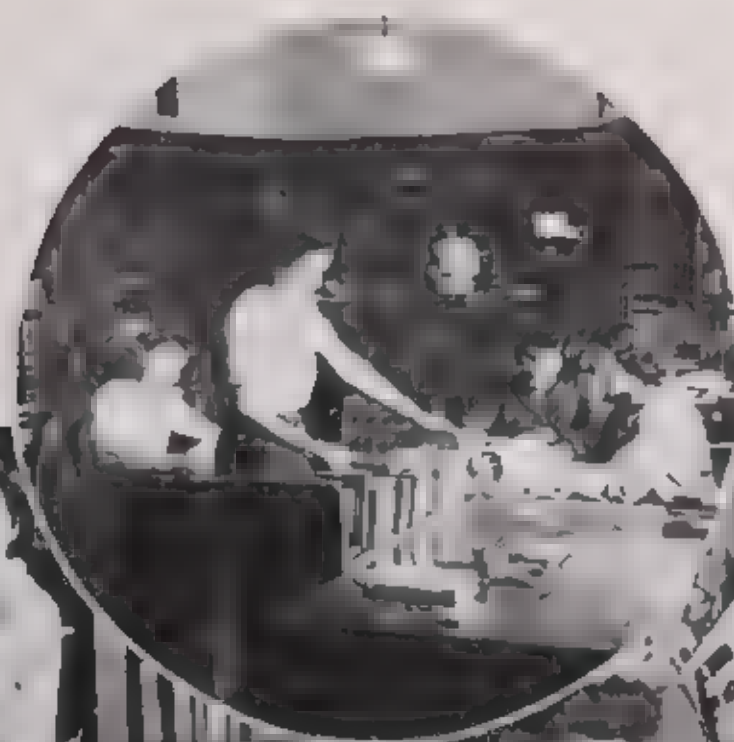

Upper: Seated are Mrs. G. Nelson, hospitality chairman; Mrs. R. Mull, health chairman; Mrs. R. Bugeon, legislation chairman; Mrs. W. Toomey. Standing: Mrs. H. Trowe, ways and means chairman; Mrs. H. Lower: Seated are Mrs. Conlan, third vice-president; Mrs. J. Smyth, recording secretary; Mrs. B. Allen, president; Mrs. M. Turney, first vice-president; Mrs. J. MacNeish, high school delegate. Standing are Mrs. W. Bradford, alternate delegate; Mrs. H. Hieronimus, high school delegate; Mrs. W. Holton, second vice-president; Mrs. F. Baird-Smith, corresponding secretary; Mrs. S. McCoy, alternate delegate.

"Stride on, democracy," the theme chosen for this year, expresses the desire of each person to do his utmost toward the perfection of our democracy. Each and every person must make his forward strides in the direction of this worthwhile goal. The members of the Parent-Teacher Association have united to do their share as individuals and as part of an active organization. Their responsibility is a large one, for the guidance of today's youth will determine tomorrow's citizens and the kind of a world they build. The Abbey prints for the school library were purchased with the money raised at Parents' Night which took place in November and featured Open House and the All Star Review. The program was only one of many which endeavored to promote better parenthood, better schools, better homes, and better communities. The Operetta Club, the Girls' Chorus, the Mixed Chorus, the Junior Mixed Chorus, the Chemistry Club, and the Pan-American Club have at different times represented some of the school activities. Guest speakers, Dr. Sara Janson, M.D., Mr. Leater Schloerb, and G. W. Crone, Ph.D. have also contributed greatly to make this year one of the most profitable in the history of South Shore High School's P.T.A.

The Library Club is a very active organization at South Shore. All those who work in the library are automatically members. Their varied duties are under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Dawson and Mrs. Martha O'Kane. Besides keeping the library books in their proper places and checking them in and out, the members keep the attendance records. The most important event that the club plans is the tea given for the faculty. Every November during National Book Week a very enjoyable tea is given and a display is prepared recommending some of the best books of the current year.

Movies

Educational authorities appreciate the importance of conveying subject matter by means of visual education. In view of this the movie operators perform an essential job when they "run" the machine. Moreover they receive service points for the time and effort expended executing their duties. Boys are chosen by Mr. Moroney on the basis of their mechanical aptitude.

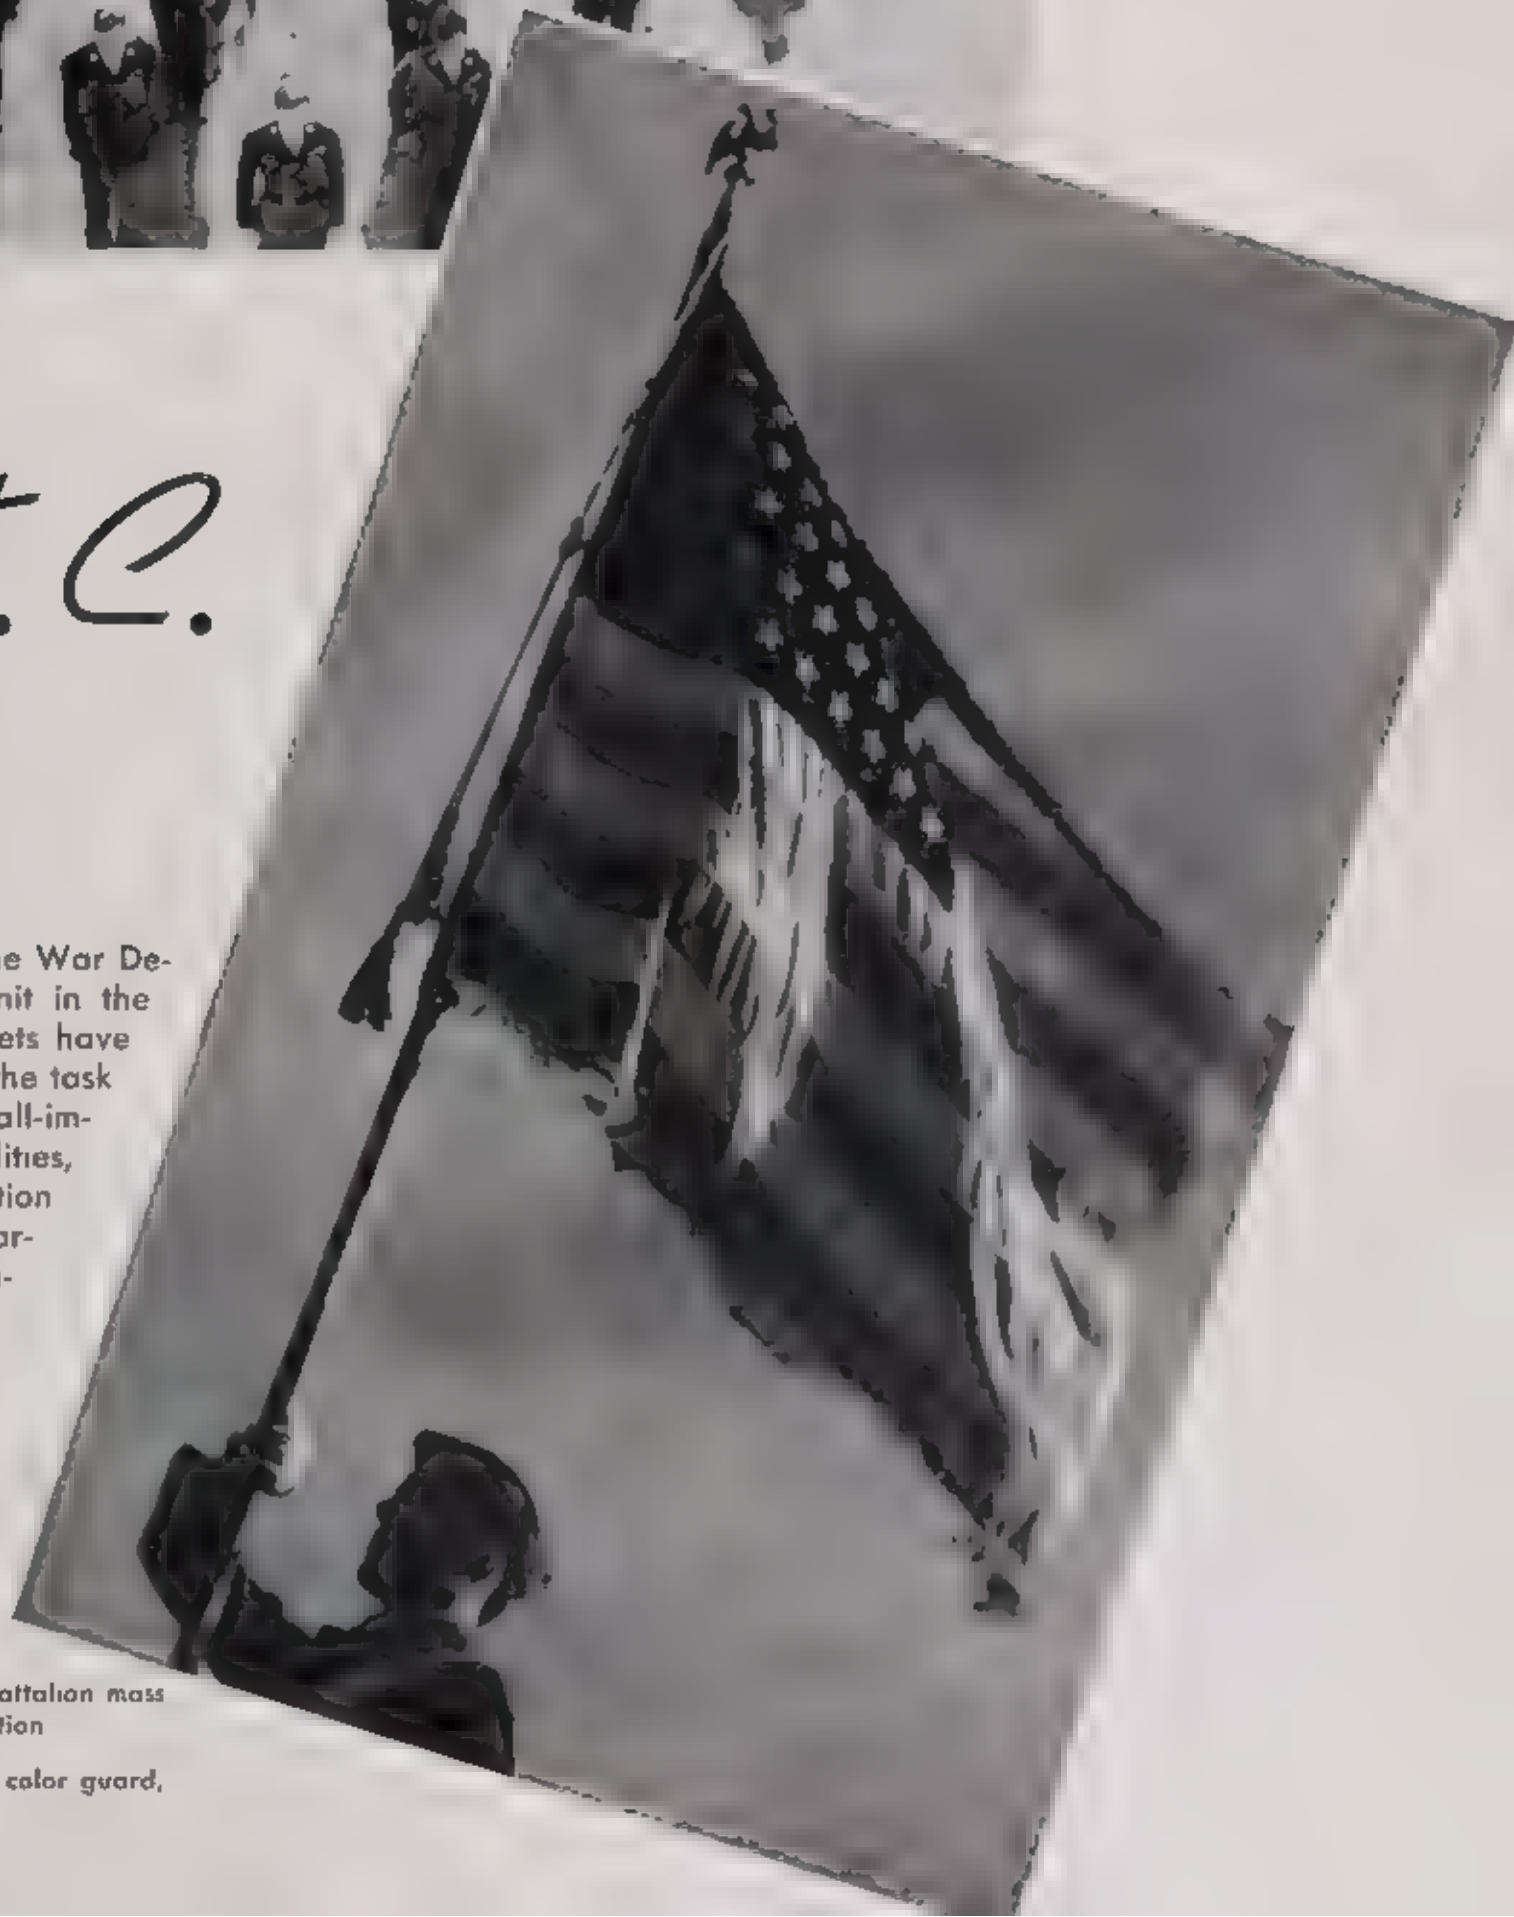

Clean-up

The Clean-Up Committee, under the sponsorship of Miss Marion Castle, sees to it that our school is clean and neat throughout the year. Keeping the corridors clean and putting up posters are only two of the duties of the committee. Every spring there is a clean-up campaign, and students are urged to write slogans for the city contest. Also in the spring, a scrapbook of semester activities is compiled and sent to the Association of Commerce

R.O.T.C.

Every year a representative of the War Department visits every R.O.T.C. unit in the city. This year South Shore cadets have devoted much time and effort to the task of readying themselves for the all-important Federal Inspection. Facilities, discipline, degree of co-operation between individuals, and appearance of the members of the battalion were some of the points considered in the inspection.

Below: Freshmen in the R.O.T.C. receive their physical training which is designed to strengthen every part of their bodies.

Self-discipline, reliability, resourcefulness, and initiative are qualities which are an asset to any person, especially at the time when one is developing rapidly both physically and mentally. These are the tools which help to mold the wide awake, intelligent American.

There are many ways by which a boy can improve his character. One is by becoming affiliated with an organization which stands for high ideals and sets forth a program of useful, constructive work.

In South Shore there is no organization which better fulfills these requirements than the R.O.T.C. Members learn how important it is to respect their superiors, restrain themselves when necessary, and be accurate and precise in everything they do.

Daily routine is of such a nature as to prevent any wasting of time. Boys study, drill, and discuss problems pertaining to their training. The scope of information learned by those in the R.O.T.C. is so great that not only do the boys become acquainted with many pertinent facts concerning military warfare, but they also learn many interesting things which are helpful in connection with other subjects. One derives a feeling of self-confidence and pride when he realizes that the knowledge inculcated in him has practical value which can be of use to him at any time.

Primarily, the purpose of the R.O.T.C. is to introduce young men in high school to the vast realm of military tactics and patriotic service; therefore it is designed to employ those spiritual, mental, and physical capacities which lie dormant in the boy who has never resigned himself to the fact that he can accomplish something if he tries hard enough. Advancement in the R.O.T.C. may come to anyone who shows that he deserves it by demonstrating in his daily actions and work that he is able to assume added responsibility and meet the demands of a higher rank.

In March a picked platoon is entered in inter-school competition. In order to be on the picked platoon, and R.O.T.C. student must first volunteer and then be chosen by the commander on the basis of special skill and ability to carry out commands with precision and alacrity. The highlight of the year for the R.O.T.C. is Federal Inspection. All units participate, and the school is rated as excellent, satisfactory, or non-satisfactory, according to whether or not it merits distinction.

Special emphasis is placed on physical training for boys in the R.O.T.C. The first ten minutes of every period are devoted to calisthenics. This measure, which was put into effect at the outbreak of war, will probably remain as a permanent measure because of its benefit in building up the bodies of the prospective citizens of tomorrow. Moreover it is of inestimable value in preparing students for the rigors of military life.

Girls' Athletic Association

The Girls' Athletic Association is the largest organization at South Shore, since one hundred per cent of the girls in the school are members. Guided by Miss Frederika Marston, the girls participate in a complete and varied athletic program. After four semesters of work, members are eligible to wear a school letter if they have acquired one thousand points in gym class-work, health, team games, individual activities, leadership of service, and scholarship.

The G.A.A. semester events begin with the membership party where members get acquainted and enjoy entertainment and ends with the award assembly where swimming and tennis meet awards, two hundred and fifty point badges, five hundred point pins, captain basketball, speedball and volley ball awards, letters and chevrons are presented. Besides these events for members, the G.A.A. sponsors many school-wide activities. Many of these have already become classics. They are the Square Dance, the Roller Skating Party, the Student-Faculty Volley Ball Game, and the Water Ballet.

Horseback Riding Club and Chevron Girls

Upper: Five members of the Horseback Riding Club are Claire Fisher, Violette Hedstrand, Nanette Hess, Helen Walsh, and Norma Tennis.

After a girl has won her school letter, she may attain a chevron by earning three hundred points in one semester. The first and second chevrons are designated by slanting bars on the regular letter. A gold pin is awarded for the third chevron, and for the fourth chevron a star is added to the pin. Chevron girls receive the highest honor the G.A.A. can give.

One of the favorite activities of G.A.A. members is horseback riding. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Paula Leverenz, the girls meet and spend many pleasant afternoons riding. The girls enjoy a great deal of healthful exercise and also earn G.A.A. points.

Upper right Virginia Frash is ready to spend a healthful and enjoyable morning at the G. A. A. Bicycle Party

Lower right Shirley Olson, chairman of the poster committee, puts up a poster to advertise the G. A. A. Square Dance

The Girls' Athletic Association

One of the most enjoyable and healthful activities of the members of the G.A.A. is their participation in outdoor sports. In the spring or fall members organize and plan hikes, cycle trips, and the annual tennis tournament to determine South Shore's tennis champ. These events provide fun and exercise for all.

G.A.A. members have two bowling leagues, one that meets Friday afternoon under the direction of Elaine Nelson, and one that meets Saturday morning and is headed by Mr. Ralph Wiltshire. The Friday League is open to both beginners and advanced bowlers, while the Saturday league is composed of competitive teams of four each. In this way girls may learn to bowl and to compete with others.

Swimming rates high as an activity of the G.A.A. Under the direction of Mrs. Isabel Lassen, the girls who are interested in this sport meet and perfect their skill in the water. They take part in the swimming exhibition or ballet and also in the G.A.A. swim meet. The ballet that was presented for Parents' Night this year began with an unusual and lovely spectacle. The room was darkened and each girl swam around the edge of the pool carrying a lighted candle. After this introduction, the girls performed their stunts which included rhythmic swimming, fancy diving and racing.

Before a girl may wear the G.A.A. letter, she must acquire at least one hundred points in service or leadership. Points are awarded for service rendered as an officer of the G.A.A., member of the board, locker guard, team captain, or division representative. Many girls earn service points by construction posters to advertise G.A.A. events.

G. A. A. Activities

"Dive for the oyster,
Dive for the clam,
Dive for the sardine,
And take a full can."

This call reminds us of the third annual Square Dance. Fourteen school organizations entered in the competition dance, and members of the faculty formed an exhibition set. Lively music was furnished by an old fashioned orchestra, and refreshments were served by G. A. A. hostesses.

Center: "Salute your partner" is done by the G. A. A. set. Clockwise: Shirley Olson, Bill Osherman, Helen Johnson, Dick Lehman, Elaine Nelson, Tom Gage, Janet Gustafson, and David Pareira

These boys undergo a strenuous training period during the fall, practicing all the fundamentals of football. The art of running, passing, kicking, blocking, and tackling are thoroughly worked out. The fellows are taught the importance of regular habits, good food, plenty of sleep and sunshine, and the mental requirements of a good football player. These same standards are embodied in our best citizens.

Such experience familiarizes the boys with the regular team's "T" formation and the prep style of football. When they graduate to the varsity eleven, they will feel more confident of their abilities as many of their weaknesses will have been corrected.

During the football season, the team played practice games with frosh-soph of other schools, among which were Hyde Park, Leo, Mr. Carmel, and Tilden.

Fight, determination, resoluteness, and self assurance are all ideals with which our nation's ancestors were endowed, ideals that helped them to overcome overwhelming odds and led to the founding of the United States

Under the guidance of Coach Anthony Maffia, the boys on the Tar basketball squads are learning the meaning of the above standards as well as those of cooperation and sportsmanship.

For the fifth year in a row, both cage teams finished among the first four in the section standings and were eligible to enter the city finals. The senior team led the South section standings for the second successive year, while the juniors finished only a notch lower in their league, losing to the leaders by one point

Swimming

Upper: Swimmers at start are: Frank Maple, Ray Shirvis, Bob Dunlop, Don Hansen

Lower: Vic Neil, Otto Jelinek, Roy Wilhelm, and Dallas Delaney lounge along the side of the pool

Whether it be breast stroke, backstroke, free style, or diving, the members of the Guppies and Whales, junior and senior swimming teams of South Shore, are masters of them all. Trained by Coach Ralph Wiltshire, Physical Education instructor, the swimmers entered informal meets against Tilden, Morgan Park, Fenger, and Parker in preparation for the important city competition.

Track

Center: Time out to rub sore muscles. Dick Cole applies the liniment to LeRoy Wolfe's leg while Bill Scott stands by with the tape.

The South Shore Zephyrs underwent one of the most strenuous seasons that a track team could schedule during the past year.

In the fall of 1944, the cross-country team was in action, competing in several practice meets and finally participating in the city meet, where the teams finished fifth.

During the winter months the junior and senior teams moved inside for a short indoor track season. The approach of spring found the teams practicing for the sectional, city, and state meets.

Track is one of the oldest and greatest muscle-building sports of the ages. Although most of the events depend on personal skill and ability, those such as the relays require the greatest amount of cooperation and teamwork.

Physical Fitness Program

You grunt, groan, and sweat while you're doing push-ups, climbing ropes, chinning, or even tumbling, and although it isn't especially fun, you know that there is a good reason for all the calisthenics you've received in gym. You realize you will be a finer physical specimen, better prepared for either service in the armed forces or as a civilian. Through the conditioning program you will become a stronger, healthier citizen.
